EYES OF NATION ON CALIFORNIA PRIMARY TODAY

Republicans Are Agreed
On Herbert Hoover
For President

BUT BIG BATTLE
IS AMONG DEMS.

Smith Forces Claiming A
Victory Over Walsh
And Ser. Reed

San Francisco, May 1.—The eyes of the nation were in California today as her citizen trekked to the polls to record their preference for president.

The Republican are agreed on Herbert Hoover, but today's primary vote will serve as an official endorsement of the delegation pledged to support him at Kansas City.

It is within the Democratic ranks that the primary assumes national significance. California Democracy is divided among three leading candidates for the nomination.

The Democratic issue in California is sharply defined upon the rival claims of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, for convention support.

Each of these candidates for the presidential nomination have a specifically pledged delegation in this primary battle.

Phelan Leads Smith Contingent
Leading the Smith contingent is former United States Senator James D. Phelan. Opposed to Phelan is William Gibbs McAdoo, leader of the Senatorial faction.

Oddly enough, Phelan is the man who placed McAdoo in nomination four years ago in New York against Governor Smith.

The McAdoo-Walsh combine represents the "dry" wing of California democracy.

Very much in the fight is Senator Reed, the fiery Missourian. He filed here some time ago on his western tour.

The Walsh forces have declared against Smith and Reed as both "Wet."

Indications are that San Francisco and counties to the north will roll up a heavy vote for Smith, while Los Angeles and several other counties which comprise the "dry" south are expected to favor Walsh.

The Smith people are winning the state by 30,000 upwards.

The delegation to Houston will have 26 votes, but 30 Democrats will go, eight having half of vote each.

The national prohibition party is on the presidential primary ballot.

DAUGHTER WILL FIGHT SUBPOENA

Mrs. Knapp's Trial Halted
Until Tuesday By Witness's Step

Courthouse, Albany, May 1.—Failure of the state's star witness to appear today resulted in the postponement until 10 o'clock tomorrow of the trial of Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, former secretary of state, who is charged with stealing $2,875 of the $100,000 1925 census fund.

Clara Blanche Knapp, middle-aged step-daughter of Mrs. Knapp, is the witness who failed to appear.

Just as the trial was about to get under way, George Z. Medaile, special deputy attorney general, announced the receipt of a telegram from a Rutland, Vermont, law firm saying it had been retained by Mrs. Knapp to fight the subpoena directing her to come to Albany and testify against her step-mother.

Presbyterians Lose Churches, Gain Members

Washington, May 1.—Consolidations appear to be the modern rule in religious bodies as well as industry.

Census bureau figures, made public today, show that there were 8,947 Presbyterian churches with 1,894,630 members at the close of 1926, a loss of 692 churches, but a membership gain of 282,779 since 1916.

Total expenditures for the Presbyterian churches in 1926 amounted to $63,236,000, of which $47,791,000 was for current expenses, and improvements and most of the remainder for benevolences and missions.

The value of church property was given as $338,150,243, as compared with $150,239,000 in 1916. Of the total number of churches 3,289 were located in incorporated towns of over 2,500 population.

Pennsylvania was the center of Presbyterianism with 1,177 churches of 370,394 members. New York had 813 churches and 243,845 members, while Ohio ranked third with 635 churches and 162,797 members.

TOO MUCH PORK IN FLOOD BILL TO PLEASE CAL

Washington, May 1.—President Coolidge again today indicated that he would veto the Jones-Reid flood control bill which is now in conference between the house and senate.

KOEHL ENJOYS SOLO FLIGHT IN JUNKERS PLANE

Slips Away Early Today
For Sky Trip Alone
Just Like Lindy

New York, May 1.—Captain Hermann Koehl, pilot of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen, slipped out of bed at an unearthly hour this morning, dashed up to the Curtiss flying field and enjoyed himself immensely by making four short flights in the Junkers monoplane, F-13, sister ship of the Bremen.

The trip was entirely unexpected, and not on the program. The genial captain's companions, Baron Gunther von Huenefeld and Major James Fitzmaurice, were sleeping soundly at the time, recuperating from the effects of their strenuous day yesterday when 2,000,000 New Yorkers turned out to acclaim them. None of the flyers got to bed until after midnight.

Just Like Lindbergh
Captain Koehl spent a total of 45 minutes in the air. He said he wanted to get the "feel" of the F-13, which he had never flown before, and also wanted to get to the controls of a plane again. The captain, with the true instinct of a born flyer, did exactly what Col. Charles A. Lindbergh did after New York acclaimed him—got away by himself in the air.

It was the first time Koehl had taken off and landed on an American flying field while handling the controls. The captain went to the field by automobile, accompanied by A. A. Schroeder, engineer for the Junkers company. It was believed (Continued on Page 4)

Biery has informed County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk that he proposes to begin work on this new road within the next two weeks.

FOUR ARRESTED IN WHOLESALE BOOTLEG RAIDS

Two Men and Two Women
Are Taken Monday
Night by Police

TRUNK CACHE OF LIQUOR SUPPLY

Mrs. Sage Dumps Brew In Sink, Officers Say;
Seize Evidence

Salem police arrested four persons, preferring charges of possession of intoxicating liquor against them in wholesale raids Monday night.

Alfred Howell, East Per-hing and South Lundy was the first arrested in the raids conducted by Chief of Police T. W. Thompson and Patrolmen Ralph Stoffer and William Rowland.

Entering Howell's establishment, the police noticed a locked trunk on the floor, and questioned Howell about it. Howell stated that it was not his property, and threw the key into a stove, the raiders said. Rear-den, standing back of him, noticed the movement, and fished the key out. Unlocking the trunk the officers said they found a gallon jug three-fourths full of liquor, glasses, and funnels.

Proceeding to the Oriental restaurant, owned by Mrs. Anna Vecar, 239 Broadway, the police say they found three gallons of liquor and bottles containing beer. Little difficulty was met here by the raiders, the alleged intoxicants being in plain sight, it was said.

Mrs. Sage Dumps Liquor
Number three place on the raiding list was 124 Broadway, owned by Myron Gramma. Gramma had retired but the police entered and found a serving pitcher containing whiskey, glasses and a gallon jug containing whiskey, they reported.

A slot machine and a sack of corks were also confiscated here.

Thompson and his party were refused entrance at Mrs. Jennie Sage's residence, 56 Columbia st., until she had dumped a quantity of brew and liquor into her sink. Patrolman Stoffer watched her from the window and immediately after getting in he collected as much of each liquor as he could from the sink.

Enough was collected to lodge a charge against her. According to the police, she was also in the act of making a 10-gallon batch of home brew when they entered.

Alleged implements for manufacturing liquor or beer were found in each place raided.

Politicians Making Football Of Radio Caldwell Charges

Scientific Plan May Die
Through Sheer Lack Of Support

LISTENERS URGED TO AID SOLUTION

Backing of Engineers Is Sought From Public
By Commissioner

Washington, May 1.—Politicians are making a football of radio and through lack of understanding are threatening to defeat a sound engineering program of meeting the broadcasting difficulty, according to O. H. Caldwell of the federal radio commission.

"The best engineering minds of the country are agreed on a program based on simple radio principles and sound past experience," Caldwell said.

"Conference after conference has failed to shake the plan or to present improvements.

"Yet, with politicians opposing it because they cannot understand it, the plan may be held in abeyance for sheer lack of support."

Caldwell made a plea to radio listeners to assist in the effort to permit solution of the radio problem on scientific rather than political principles.

Must Face Aroused Public
He pointed out that "the politician who by such false appeals as cutting radio powers, proposes to waste a public resource, while depriving millions of listeners of their favorite program, soon must face an aroused public."

Caldwell attacked the campaign of criticism that has been directed against the assigning of exclusive channels to single powerful stations.

To the lay-political mind such channels might better be shared by a dozen or more local county-seat broadcasters.

"Of the course the fact is that with such a channel shared by a number of stations, the distant listener would get nothing but howls or heterodyne squels, owing to the interaction of the several carrier waves."

The commissioner said that if broadcasters are to reach the remote listeners on the farms, in the mountain cabins, on the plains and in the cross roads and villages, "we must reach these folks solely through exclusive channels."

He pointed out that over 60,000,000 Americans live 100 miles or more from a broadcasting station.

GERMANY LIKES TREATY ON WAR

But Acceptance Adds But Little To Gloomy
Situation

Washington, May 1.—German acceptance of the United States' draft treaty for the renunciation of war added little today to the gloomy prospects of the broad venture, in the opinion of informed diplomatic observers here.

The German note constitutes an unqualified acceptance of the treaty submitted by Secretary of State Kellogg as a basis of negotiation between France, Great Britain, Germany, Japan, Italy and the United States.

But it contributes nothing to the deadlock existing between France and the United States on the scope of the proposed general treaty.

German acceptance had been almost a certainty. No other power has replied.

Berlin, May 1.—A veiled demand for revision of the treaty of Versailles is contained in the anti-war treaty note which Germany has just sent to Washington, according to interpretation placed here upon the last two sentences of the communication.

Germany gave complete support to Secretary of State Kellogg's proposals for outlawing war.

TAKES STAND AT SENATE INQUIRY OF 'SLUSH FUND'

Oil Man, Who Recently
Was Acquitted, Tells Of Securities

HELD BONDS FOR SIX YEAR PERIOD

Then Turned Them Over
To Sinclair Co. He Testifies Today

Washington, May 1.—Harry F. Sinclair recently acquitted at the Teapot Dome oil trial, today told the senate oil inquiry that he received $757,000 of the Continental Trading company's $3,080,000 Liberty bond "slush fund."

Sinclair told of holding the bonds for five or six years and of turning them over in the last ten days to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company.

He then destroyed all records he had kept of the bonds.

Sinclair said he turned the bonds over to his company only after he was acquitted here.

The board of directors of the Sinclair Crude Oil company accepted the bonds at a meeting held in the last ten days.

Profit Used For Fund
Sinclair said a quantity of oil to be bought was fixed first at 30,000,000 barrels but later increased to 33,333,333 barrels.

The price of $1.75 a barrel was finally agreed upon but under the final contract, it was paid to the Continental Trading company which in turn purchased the oil from Humphreys for $1.50.

This profit was used to create the Continental Trading company's liberty bond fund, in which Sinclair, Stewart, Blackmer, and O'Neil participated.

Sinclair insisted that Blackmer had a claim to the Humphreys oil and that Blackmer forced him to buy his share of Humphreys oil from the Continental. Sinclair said he was satisfied with the $1.75 price.

Loaned Hays $100,000
Sinclair also told of lending $100,000 in securities to Will H. Hays, former Republican national chairman and now czar of moviedom, to help him cover his stock market losses. Sinclair said Hays repaid him later.

"Mr. Hays had lost some money in the market and he came to me for $100,000," said Sinclair. "I don't know whether I gave him it all in securities or not but I helped him. I think the securities were used as margin to cover his account on the market."

"The same securities?"

"I cannot say—at any rate he returned to me the same amount."

"Were there any bonds in the $100,000 you gave Hays?"

"I think so but I can't remember."

"Was that before or after you turned $200,000 in bonds over to him for the Republican party?"

"I can't remember."

SKIFF UPSETS, SIX DROWNED

Ferry Rammed By Log In Stream Swollen By Melting Snow

Uniontown, Pa., May 1.—Caught in the rushing flood waters of the Monongahela river near Mason town early today, six persons were drowned when the frail skiff in which they were being ferried across the river was sunk by a floating log. Two others were saved.

Uniontown, Pa., May 1.—Eight persons were drowned in the Monongahela river near here today when a skiff, ferrying between Mason town and Greensboro, upset after it was struck by a log.

Of nine passengers, only one man, a negro, swam to shore and was saved.

The victims were Robert Kennedy, a ferry company employee; Zenith Gaebe, 22; an unidentified girl; a negro mother and her four children.

The skiff was crossing the river swollen by melting snow, when the log, partly submerged, crashed into the boat. The nine passengers were plunged into the racing water, and it was believed that only one was able to breast the waters and reach shore safely.

PRIMARY RESULTS

For many years Ohio voters have been nominating candidates for national, state, county and municipal offices. In fact, Ohio was one of the original primary election states. Yet the results, one is led to believe, do not warrant the tremendous outlay necessitated.

Political apathy is one of the crimes of American democracy. Only at presidential elections is there a total vote of which political subdivisions need not feel ashamed. Even in county elections, often with scores of candidates in the field, the vote cast is far from being truly representative.

In Columbiana county at the presidential preference primary last week the cost per ballot approximated $2. Is it any wonder the high cost of government comes in for a scoring by the economists? Practically the same ratio was maintained throughout the state, although in some counties the cost per ballot reached $6. Judged by the volume of ballots cast and the lack of interest manifested, the cost of the Ohio primary was staggering.

There is to be an August primary, too, at which time candidates for state and county offices will be nominated. Thus the process of nominating will have to be repeated—at additional heavy costs to the already over-burdened taxpayers. It would seem that a short cut to economy might be reached by combining the presidential preference and the state primaries.

Perhaps there is a law prohibiting this, but if so, that law should be repealed or amended. Anything is better than the present situation, with the taxpayers footing the bills and paying, paying, paying.

After all, what are the results of the primary over the convention system of nominating? Nothing about which to get excited, if the common viewpoint is considered.

Under the primary, everyone is supposed to have equal opportunity in voicing a preference for this man or that man for public office. That opportunity is not taken advantage of, as is evidenced by the failure of appeals to get the voters to the polls at primaries. It's hard enough to get them out at general elections.

It was the hue and cry of the primary advocates that political skulduggery would be wiped out with the selection by popular vote. If there ever was skulduggery in preparing a slate of candidates at a county or state convention, it is now far overshadowed by the complete lack of interest which the electorate manifests when given the opportunity of naming its candidates.

And so long as the voters continue in the apathy which now satiates them, just so long will they be saddled with a law that accomplished nothing, and with the nomination of candidates by the minority.

ATHLETIC HONORS

More than one athlete has brought honor to Salem High school within recent years. County, district and state records have been established by boys wearing the school's red and black, and on every occasion the recognition that has thus come to the school has been beneficial to the city which supports the school. Athletic prowess attracts attention to any city, and the results are widespread.

Salem has had her share of such attention, but now comes Lowell Allen, an athlete who has distinguished himself in various sports, with a pole vaulting mark higher than any other High school boy in the entire country has ever attained. And the best part of it is that it came as the result of determined effort which would not be dented. Allen has won state and national recognition in previous attempts to clear the bar, but he was not content to bask in the glories of past accomplishments. He felt that he could do even better and by proper training and dogged determination, he succeeded.

Allen thus brought honor to himself, his school and his home town. But better than all this, he has given other youths a practical lesson in what may be accomplished by sticking to the task at hand. Others can do as well at their chosen work if they strive as hard and as consistently.

What Others Say

A NEEDLESS SACRIFICE

The national grief over Floyd Bennett's death will be enhanced by the feeling that it was incurred rather needlessly. The rescue of the Bremen's crew from Greenly island, while eminently desirable, was not so urgent as to warrant the price of the life of one of America's most skillful and resourceful fliers. Fitzmaurice and the Germans were in no danger following their forced landing. They were well cared for in their ice-bound refuge. There was no emergency to justify the summons of a sick man from his hospital bed in Detroit to fly the frozen miles that separated them from civilization.

The only emergency that existed was one of publicity. The sooner these trans-Atlantic fliers could be released from their asylum and produced in New York the greater the public acclaim of their exploit. Hence the great pressure which induced the man we mourn to undertake a mission to which his doctors were unalterably opposed. If Floyd Bennett had followed their advice and remained where his condition fully authorized him to remain he would in all likelihood have been spared for more glorious achievements.

The responsibility lies primarily with the promoter and more broadly still with the whole spirit of commercialism, which insists that trans-Atlantic flights, or any other desperate feat of heroism, shall be made to yield their last dollar of revenue to the exploiter. Not the slightest blame of course, attaches to the crew of the Bremen, who risked their lives in a daring venture quite without regard to its publicity value. It is their misfortune that such a death should attend the effort to make capital of their success.

For the passing of Floyd Bennett will put a damper on the celebration which is their due when they reach this, their original destination. In our welcome to them we shall be conscious of the great sacrifice entailed in their advent. Every one will remember that Bennett was the man who piloted Commander Byrd to the North pole and back; that he it was whom Commander Byrd had picked to be second in command of his South pole expedition; that he had been dubbed by competent authority second only to Lindbergh in his ability as a pilot. There will be added regret in the thought that one so gifted is now deprived of the chance to redeem the hard luck which prevented his participation last summer in the Byrd trans-Atlantic hop.

In the meantime we shall think of that amazing flight of Lindbergh's to save Floyd Bennett's life. There was a mission really worthy of the risk it entailed and performed with dramatic spontaneity. The Lone Eagle did everything in his miraculous power to redeem a blunder of commercialism. If only he might have been successful—New York Herald Tribune.

There is nothing finer—and the sorrow of it is that there is nothing vainer—in the history of rescues or attempted rescues than the flight of Charles Lindbergh from Curtis field New York, through a howling storm, to carry serum and white mice to the dying aviator Floyd Bennett at Quebec. An errand of mercy, to supplement an act of mercy, for which the brilliant young air man was entirely and instantly willing; an errand almost of miracle, against gale and snow; a trip of 450 miles with the speed of a wind of will and of skill against the winds of fate; a grim battle with fate, none the less splendid because it proved a losing battle.

Is there anything more thrilling in Lindbergh's unexampled record than this swift flight? It is a new thing in the world; it illustrates man's rise into the empyrean; it reveals the startling possibilities of modern science, and proves that man's courage and resolution keep pace with his invention. It is a chapter of the heroic beyond the conception of the older world. Bennett flew to aid the airmen of the Bremen, and fell a victim of the exposure. Quietly and calmly he surmounts the danger. Seeking no glory, where is the end of that which he achieves?—Boston Transcript.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2.

In nature's infinite book of secrecy a little I can read.—Shakespeare.

While this day may not be notable for much constructive work or accomplishment, yet it may be memorable for the coming of the sun and the return of the past efforts and persistent endeavor and patience. Elderly persons and institutions may be approached for such needed recognition and may be disposed to proffer substantial favors. There may be a proclivity to occultism, or to delving into unusual angles of science or invention, and with gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of returns for diligent labors, study, perseverance and patience, with elderly persons and institutions disposed to friendly and substantial recognition and favors. There may be a turning toward the things of the occult or to scientific research in original directions.

A child born on this day may be clever, original and independent in thought and action and at the same time will be responsible and persistent in its efforts.

CHILDREN OF NATION ENJOY "HEALTH DAY"

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Every Saturday during the month of May there are picnic parties in Central park, New York city. Not only is the first of the month May day, but almost every other day is May Day. Living as I do at one of the entrances to this park, I have seen so many "Queens of the May" and so many "Kings" during these years that I feel almost a part of royalty myself.

As a matter of fact, these little folks are enthroned in our hearts and their welfare means more to us than the fate of nations.

This is the fifth birthday of National Child Health day. The American Child Health Association never relaxes its vigilance. Its motto is, "The Health of the Child is the Strength of the Nation." The association goes forward in its patriotic endeavors.

As I view it, every child has a right to be born in a decent home. Every child has a right to be given wholesome and nourishing food. Every child has a right to medical and dental supervision and the correction of physical defects if any are found.

With hygienic surroundings, proper food, early discovery and removal of physical disabilities—with these fundamentals, the child will have health. That child will contribute to the strength of the nation. A nation builded on this rock cannot fail.

The outdoor life is essential to the welfare of young and old. May day exemplifies the sort of day every child should be in the life of the child. Games exercise, fresh air, laughing, singing, all in God's sunlight. This is the formula that will solve most of the problems of childhood.

Wouldn't it solve most of the problems of adult life?

One time the Master said, "Whoever shall not receive the Kingdom of God shall not receive the Kingdom."

dom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein."

We will let the theologians apply these words to our spiritual lives. But we can make out for ourselves what they mean as applied to our physical lives.

How can we have health, vigor, happiness, clear minds and the joy of living unless we accept life as a little child? Unless we play, walk and run in the open, breathe fresh air, laugh and sing and enjoy God's sunlight—unless we accept life in the spirit of a little child, we miss the fullness of the earthly Kingdom of God. I doubt, too, if we will be prepared to enter fully into the joys of the spiritual Kingdom.

But, however we grow-ups may order our own lives, we have no right to dwarf or distort the life of a little child. That youngster has certain vested rights and it is our duty to see that they are accorded him.

What sort of man or woman a child will become depends to a great extent upon the eating habits formed in early life. I beg of you to have proper instruction given in this matter. If you are not competent to teach this vital subject, find somebody who can.

Growth, strength of heart, firmness of flesh and muscle, solidity of teeth and bones, richness of blood, clearness of skin, quality of brain cells, mental and physical alertness—all of these are determined by the food and the eating habits. Unless your child is properly trained therein, you have failed in your duty.

Let us make this National Child Health Day the beginning of a real drive for the health and well-being of every child in the nation.

The great snow storm that has just passed over this region has been much like the one that occurred here seven years ago, according to a record made by George D. Hunt.

From the records of the board of health for the past 18 years it has been shown that during that time 126 deaths in the city of Salem have resulted from consumption, 90 from typhoid fever and 63 from diphtheria. The decrease in the number of deaths from typhoid fever shows a bettered condition of the water supply.

Marsh Calls Grudge Canker On Life

Beston, May 1.—"The person who harbors the spirit of unforgiveness is his own worst enemy," stated Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston university recently.

"There is nothing in the world that promises so much in satisfaction and yields so little as a spirit of revenge. A grudge harbored in the heart is worse than a bullet in the flesh or bone. A grudge is a canker that eats out the very life of the person who harbors it, and it eats itself into injury."

FARMERS BEHIND IN SPRING WORK

Weather Holds Back Corn Planting and Plowing Copeland Reports

Lisbon, May 1.—One year ago farmers in Columbiana county had oats all sown and most all corn acreage plowed.

There is a decided change in the agricultural situation this year, due to weather conditions existing during April, and so far very little oats have been sown.

At the moment, farmers are from two to three weeks behind with spring work. Wheat fields in this county are in poor condition and many fields will be sown in oats. Livestock was on full feed most all of April, which is an unusual condition for this time of year.

Temperature during April was five degrees below normal, and during the last month snow fell on six different days, but with rainfall about normal. The normal temperature in Columbiana county during the last 36 years, according to Weather Observer Lawrence H. Copeland of Millport, was 48 with the average precipitation during the same period of three inches.

The mean maximum temperature last month was 54 with the mean minimum at 32 and the mean at 43. The maximum in April was 79 reached on the 5th and 6th. The coldest in April was on the 16th when 16 above was recorded. Total precipitation during April was 3.05 inches, the heaviest in a given 24 hours was April 25. The snowfall during April was 1.5 inches.

Only four clear days were registered during April, with 16 being partly cloudy and 10 full cloudy days.

Considerable plowing is now being done throughout the county but this work is very late. Under the circumstances it is pointed out that all crops will be late maturing this year. No fruit is reported to have been damaged by the weather so far.

PRIMARY COSTS OF CANDIDATES GIVEN TO BROWN

Columbus, May 1.—Pre-primary campaign expense statements were filed today with Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown by a number of candidates who were chosen delegates, at the Ohio presidential primaries, to Republican and Democratic national conventions.

Frank Mauller, Chillicothe, member of the state utilities commission, reported that he received no contributions and spent $315 for rental of a hall and for other expenses in connection with a luncheon he gave at Lancaster, March 17, last, to a number of committeemen. The balance of his expenses mostly were for advertising. Mauller was chosen as an "uninstructed" (Willie) delegate from the 11th Ohio congressional district to the Republican national convention.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce Walter F. Brown, Toledo, reported that he received no contributions but gave $250 to the Lucas county Hoover-for-President committee. Brown was elected as one of the Hoover delegates from the ninth congressional district to the Republican national convention.

Walter C. Rhorbacker, Tiffin, elected as a Willis delegate to the Kansas City convention from the 12th congressional district, stated that he received nothing and spent $20 for printing and advertising.

James E. Kinnison, Canton, chosen as a Hoover delegate from the 16th congressional district, said he received nothing and gave $50 to the sixteenth district Hoover campaign committee.

Professor Has Marriage Plan Based Upon Psychology

Columbus, May 1.—A new type of marriage which is believed to be an outgrowth of the companionate plan of Judge Ben Lindsay, has been offered to society by Dr. William A. Shimer of the department of sociology at Ohio State university.

The plan presented by the Ohio State professor provides for a psychological marriage with a department to advise the matrimonial inclined individual as to the type of life companion he would be capable of living with, according to the rudiments of his own character and personality.

Besides lowering the cost on society the psychological plan would eliminate hardships on the part of the married couple by picking mates with whom they can best stride the path of matrimony, Dr. Shimer believes.

"A companionate marriage alone would only eliminate children and would not have the survival value," the sociologist maintains. "In short time with the use of this plan, only the persons interested in children would survive."

"Marriage on impulse is a great

Folks Ask Attorney General About Dogs And Country Dogs

Columbus, May 1.—"How can I keep a neighbor's dog out of my yard?"

This query is contained in a letter received today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner from one of Ohio's women residents.

"Is it legal for a stock company, when the members own a different number of shares of stock, vote money for ice cream to treat the crowd?" asked a male resident of Rockford, Mercer county.

"Can a child be forced to attend high school when it is known they have no chart?" queried another writer.

One woman asked the attorney general to find out how her sister-in-law obtained her divorce.

Another writer requested details concerning an old law said to have been enacted by the Ohio legislature requiring sidewalks along country roads.

These requests were in letters received at the attorney general's office today. Turner said they were good samples of numerous missives he receives almost daily.

In each instance, he said, he dictates replies, pointing out in a friendly way that the opinions and rulings prepared by the attorney general and his staff are limited by statute, to requests submitted by state, county, municipal and other public officials.

Musical Program, Comedy Enjoyed by Book Club, Guests

There were 4,943 prisoners in the Ohio State penitentiary, approximately 500 at the London prison farm, about 2,800 at the Mansfield reformatory and 1,500 at the women's reformatory at Marysville, giving a guarded total that there are approximately 9,046 convicts in the Buckeye state's penal institutions.

Today's Fashion

By Vera Winston

Stunning Frock of Black Satin for Town Wear.

An excellent taste is this frock of black satin, one of the latest models of a Parisian house. Her stitching is its chief note, used to emphasize the neckline and to create pointed cuffs and a midline hipline. The circular skirt is hemmed in the same manner.

It is a simple, rustic, formal enough for bridge or tea, yet informal enough for a town wear. Combined with a fox scarf, a sleek turban of satin and straw and black patent leather shoes, it makes an attractive costume.

EGYPT AGREES TO DROP BILL

Crisis Believed Past As Assemblies Measure Is Withdrawn

London, May 1.—A solution of the Egyptian crisis seemed in sight today as a result of the decision of the Egyptian parliament to withdraw the public assemblies bill.

It was the introduction of this measure that led the British foreign office to send an ultimatum to Cairo demanding its withdrawal on the ground it would jeopardize peace and menace foreign lives and interests.

The cabinet will discuss the situation tomorrow and decide upon the policy to be followed towards Egypt in the future.

Government officials refused to make any statement until the official Egyptian reply to the ultimatum is studied.

Great Britain had demanded the cancellation of the public assemblies bill. In view of the fact that the Egyptians only withdrew it, thus postponing final consideration, it may not prove acceptable to Great Britain.

Police Guard Mayor Walker

New York, May 1.—May Day, holiday of Socialists throughout the world, dawned in New York with every one of the city's 17,500 police on duty as 250,000 workers celebrated.

Mayor Walker's home was under guard. So were the homes of the judiciary and outstanding capitalists, as well as public buildings and churches.

Police Commissioner Warren taboos parades and passing out inflammatory pamphlets.

Eleven May Day meetings were scheduled for afternoon and evening. Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, was to address five of them.

Socialists Insulted
Designating May 1 as Army Day, Governor Smith requested patriotic observances in all public schools.

In a letter to Police Commissioner Warren, August Gerber, secretary of the socialist action committee, demanded rescinding or orders mobilizing the entire police force. Gerber denounced the preparations as "an insult to the intelligence of 250,000 workers, a reflection on their intelligence."

Unemployed men and women were to gather in Union Square for banners. Despite the ban on parades, they planned to march to Madison Square Garden, where the communists hold their meeting.

Review In Moscow

Moscow, May 1.—May Day celebration in Moscow had a strong military tinge. Twenty-five thousand troops from all branches of the Red army marched in review before Gen. Vorosiloff, commissar for war and marine in the Soviet. It was the greatest military show in the history of the Soviet. In addition to the war minister many other government officials were upon the reviewing stand.

Half a million trade union members marched through the streets to Red Square where a gigantic parade formed with numerous brass bands.

Those appointed were: Senator Frederic Steiwer (R) of Oregon; Senator Porter Dale (R) of Vermont; Senator W. H. McMaster (R) of South Dakota; Senator A. W. Barkley (D) of Kentucky; Senator F. G. Bratton (D) of New Mexico.

that the P-13 may be the plane that will be used by Koehl, Von Huene-feld and Fitzmaurice on their triumphal tour of the United States which starts a week from today.

Their present schedule calls for their appearance in Washington tomorrow to receive congratulations of President Coolidge. They will return to New York by train Thursday morning.

Is Baron's Birthday

Smiling like a happy boy, Captain Koehl returned to the flyers' suite at the Ritz-Carlton from the flying field at 10.05 a. m. and rejoined the baron and Fitzmaurice, "Fitz," as New York has learned to call the slim Irishman, was delighted by the news from Dublin that his request for a month's leave of absence had been granted.

The baron was still under the spell of New York's tumultuous reception while he was getting shaved this morning. He told Charles H. Ritz, a barber at the hotel, that "they can do things like it only in America." The baron who has the reputation of being a liberal tipper, sought to give the barber a tip but the latter held up a politely firm hand in refusal.

It was the baron's thirty-sixth birthday, and by radio from Berlin he received congratulations from his mother, the Baroness Von Huene-feld. A white birthday cake a foot and a half across and marked with a single big candle was brought in to the flyers' suite.

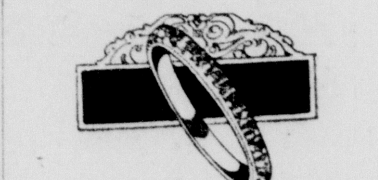

The flyers were carefully guarded against any radical demonstrations in connection with May day.

Markets

RAILS ARE STEADY

New York May 1.—Railroad and motor shares were steady, while the remainder of the stocks were irregular at the opening of the market today. Fractional gains and losses were the rule in the oil department with Houston up  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 154; Standard Oil of New Jersey down  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 47 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; Sinclair up  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 30 and Maryland down  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 32 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe gained  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 193 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; Delaware & Hudson rose  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 218 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; Missouri Pacific gained  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 54 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; and Southern Railway lifted  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 155 $\frac{1}{2}$ . U. S. Steel sold at 147 $\frac{1}{2}$ , up  $\frac{1}{4}$  and General Motors at 189 $\frac{1}{2}$  displayed a gain of  $\frac{1}{4}$ .

Moderate advances were scored in a few of the oil and motor stocks in irregular trading in the first period today. The Standard Oil of New York and New Jersey held their position of leadership in the oil group while Hudson and Mack trucks led the oils. Curtis Aero sold above 100 for the first time, covering a spread of about 40 points on the movement.

Steel trade centers reported a softening of prices, and similar conditions prevailed in the petroleum markets. The renewal rate on call loans was 6 per cent, unchanged from the previous session.

Standard Oils of New York and New Jersey; Atlantic Refining also a Standard Oil stock; Texas Corporation; Sinclair and Marland constituted the active group in the oils, and, after early irregularity prices stiffened all along the line. Investment buying of the oils was reported to be a factor of increasing importance, large blocks of the low-priced Standards having been taken out of the market in recent weeks. Texas Corporation sold in good volume above 64, up 2 points.

Hudson's 2-point rise to 88 $\frac{1}{2}$ , followed reports of record-breaking output in the first four months of the year, with heavy commitments for May. Pullman, Victor Talking Machine, Goodrich, Spicer Manufacturing, Westinghouse, Davison Chemical, Central Alloy Steel and Remington Rand rose nearly two points each in active trading. The rails were quiet and featureless, the Public Utilities firm.

JAZZ DOWNFALL TO COME ABOUT THROUGH RADIO

That Is What Damrosch, Famous Director,
Sees Coming

Chicago, May 1.—Radio, the ugly duckling of the music family, will prove the downfall of jazz, according to Walter Damrosch, veteran orchestra conductor.

The secret of the doom of jazz, Damrosch believes, is in making classical music, played by the best orchestras in the country available to the general public.

In radio the conductor of the New York symphony sees the medium for making classical music available to millions, thus showing the public that jazz is "nothing more than a recurring rhythm."

"Jazz, after all, is a monotony, with only a constant repetition of one very limited theme that by itself would be ultimate of boredom," Damrosch told a national conference of school music supervisors here.

Bad Over Radio
"Jazz is as bad over the radio as it is in any other fashion, perhaps worse."

"But radio is coming out of its trance. More worthwhile music is going on the air constantly, and I see great good in it."

"The soothing, elevating influence of good music must be appreciated. One who has never known a thing which is desirable cannot want it, but knowing it once he will demand it."

"I hope that will be the history of music and the radio."

Radio, Damrosch, is inclined to believe, will prove one of the greatest influences ever felt for refining the emotions of the world. He sees it as an antidote for shallow appreciation, for senses overfed with cheapness, for the "riot of modernism" that is engulfing the art sense of the public.

Already a limited amount of good music is being brought to the outlying districts, Damrosch points out, and results already are noticeable by the increasing public interest in programs of classic music.

The New York Symphony is planning a series of concerts to be broadcast over the radio next winter, according to the leader, and by that time he expects the public to be in even more receptive mood.

Several nationally prominent musicians have announced themselves in favor of radio, but Damrosch is the first to see it unqualifiedly as the medium to lift the American public from its "misguided" love of jazz rhythm.

Dance Music
Classic music, it is contended, does not become popular until the public is familiar with the intricate airs and movements involved. Jazz, on the other hand, has a very elemental theme. The public can listen to a jazz piece and remember it and whistle it immediately.

Persons buying phonograph music, musicians point out, spend most of their money on "dance music." Good music is too difficult to produce, except by large musical organizations.

The combination of these two facts results in a dearth of classics. But with the more complicated forms of music broadcast through radio constantly enough to make them popular, Damrosch is certain the musical taste of the American public will approve quickly, to spell the doom of jazz.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

She Discusses the Latest in Spring Suits.

"S" HOW me something individual in a suit."

Casualty—just like that—spoke Mrs. Cordice, just as though it weren't difficult to find something original in this age of standardization.

Two suits are made thus and so, with three-quarters or seven-eighths coats, simple skirts and silk-and-tweed blouses. To have them any other way is simply not right. Individuality comes in in the wearing and selection of accessories.

It is the same with mannish short-jacketed suits. This mode calls for wraparound skirts, jabot-blouses and skillful tailoring. Here, too, one costume varies from another in what is worn along with it.

These two prevailing modes provide the majority of such garments for the season. Most customers desire that which is worn generally—how else can they be in style, they ask? So it is that in most shops you will find only these two types of suits.

But in an exclusive shop, such as ours, where we make a point of catering to more individual tastes, we usually carry several numbers that have their basis in the prevailing mode, and yet diverge from it just enough to be individual.

So it was that, after a few moments' thought, I called to mind a Kasha sport suit which I modeled with high hope. And the hope did not so defeat. Mrs. Cordice not only ordered an exact duplicate, but one similar to it in darkish blue flannel.

I next slipped on an adorable sports frock. This, too was of kasha, in its natural shade. Of course, it was a two-piece model, with a box-pleated skirt. And the blouse was larded with turquoise blue and an odd purplish blue—the most heavenly combination. She simply raved.

Natural Kasha Employed in Individual Sport Model.

LONDON TOWER'S SINKING CAUSES SERIOUS WORRY

Apprehension Felt For Tourist Attraction
Near the Thames

London, April 30.—Apprehension is felt concerning the historic Tower of London, one of the principal tourist attractions in London, because of the fact that the foundations of part of the structure have begun to sink.

The fact was announced in the annual report of the National Physical Laboratory, which states:

"Periodic observations of the movements of the quay wall end of the Salt Tower throughout the year. The main displacements are in vertical direction, and indicate a small but measurable sinking of the foundations of the masonry."

Cracks Discovered
"In June, at the request of His Majesty's Office of Works, an examination was made of the west wall in which several cracks had appeared. These cracks have been kept under observation since they were first noted, but have so far shown no signs of extension."

The beginnings of the Tower of London are lost in tradition. The present buildings were begun by William the Conqueror, but as long as there has been a London there has been a fortress where the Tower now stands to defend the water approach. The foundations, therefore may be in part 2,000 years old.

The Salt Tower—which is about 600 years old—is one of the strong works of the wall that defends the inner ward, or royal portion of the Tower building. It is at the eastern end of the river frontage, divided from the quay by the moat.

Safety Precautions
During the six centuries that it has stood there it has been used as a prison for traitors, as a guard-room for archers and slingers, and as a lodging for officers of the court or garrison.

Every possible precaution to insure the safety of the Tower of London has been taken by engineering experts.

London.—Is the lighthouse keeper deemed to disappear in the face of advancing science? This question is prompted by the installation recently of automatic lighting devices for the first time in England at the two lighthouses at Burnham-on-Sea, on the Somersetshire coast.

Fears Inventions May Destroy Home Life In the World

London, May 1.—The fear that modern inventions such as telephones, wireless and television would eventually completely destroy the sanctity of the home was voiced by Dr. Furse, Bishop of St. Albans, in a recent interview here.

"At present," he declared, "there is only one place where I can secure absolute privacy."

"That is in my bath."

"Now I read that even this privacy is to be vouchsafed to me only a little time longer. I view with great trepidation the coming of the day when by television my morning ablutions at St. Albans will be reflected on a screen in New York for the entertainment of the American public."

"I am doubtful as to whether modern scientific discoveries have brought happiness in any sense of the word."

The "FLAVOR ZONE" oven browns and cooks automatically

The oven, and oven control, of the Westinghouse Electric Range have been specially designed to give "FLAVOR ZONE" cooking automatically.

That is—it automatically browns the roast first, and for just the right length of time to seal in the rich juices and flavor, and then it draws this goodness into the meat by cooking at an automatically lowered temperature. It does all of this without work or worry on your part.

For 6 o'clock dinner, you can place a cold roast in the cold oven any time in the morning, make two simple adjustments as predetermined for you by Westinghouse cooking experts, and then forget your cooking until dinner time.

No other range, either fuel or electric, performs both the browning and the cooking operations automatically—no other range can give you such complete freedom from the kitchen.

Come in for demonstration, or if more convenient, phone or write for "The Story of Flavor Zone Cooking."

1.—“Electric Refrigeration” assures proper preservation of food. The first essential to the proper preservation of food is cold. At temperatures between 50 and 60 degrees, bacteria in food multiplies 400 times faster than at temperatures between 42 and 47 degrees. The danger line for proper food preservation is 50 degrees. The normal temperature in an electric refrigerator is below 50 degrees with a fluctuation of only a few degrees.

2.—“Electric Refrigeration” provides a constant supply of cold dry air in a sanitary cabinet.

3.—“Electric Refrigeration” is convenient, simple, reliable and economical.

4.—“Electric Refrigeration” has passed the experimental stage. 1,200 electric refrigerators were sold in 1917. In 1927 over 500,000 electric refrigerators were sold. This result is only possible because the general public is satisfied that “Electric Refrigeration” is the proper and proved method of refrigeration.

Felix M. Warburg, New York banker, has subscribed $1,000,000 for the development of Jewish farm settlements in Southern Russia. ## ANOTHER MINE HEAD KIDNAPED

Sandino Rebels Holding Neptune Shaft Chief In Nicaragua

Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, May 1.—A second American employed in the mine of the Pis Pis district which were raided by Sandino troops was believed today to be a prisoner in the hands of the rebels. Harry Johnson, a Swedish book-keeper employed in the La Luz mine, who secreted himself during the raid and subsequently made his way here, has reported that an American named Head, acting superintendent of the Neptune mine, is missing.

Johnson said that the La Luz mine was dynamited and totally wrecked by the rebels on April 27. He said that Head left here last week bound for Bluefields, but had not been heard from since.

George B. Marshall, of New York, assistant manager of the La Luz mine is still believed to be in the hands of the rebels. According to the best information available he is alive and safe.

Additional marines have been landed from the U. S. warship Galveston to reinforce the detachment at this base. Immediate operations have been started against Sandino.

Three strong detachments are moving inland hoping to converge upon the rebel camp in the Pis Pis district and force General Sandino into a decisive battle.

The shooting occurred near Dyer, Ind.

Dan Green of New Albany was killed. Kenneth McCullough, confessed "Alky" runner was shot perhaps mortally. Jack White, roadhouse owner, was beaten and George Propper was shot.

Chicago Churches Will Give Thanks For 'Redemption'

Chicago, May 1.—Several weeks ago when Chicago was in the throes of a murderous bomb-throwing political campaign, churches throughout the city on an appointed day held special services and prayed for the "redemption of Chicago."

Assuming that the forces of law and order were triumphant at the recent primary election, in answer to their prayers, these same churches will hold another special service on Memorial Sunday, May 23, to offer thanks.

The Thanks-giving program was presented to the union ministers by Rev. Philip Yarrow, chairman of the political action commission of the Chicago Church Federation. His pronouncement referred to the recent victory of good government for which we should give thanks.

SALEM HIGH IN CARNEGIE TECH MEET SATURDAY

Coach Springer Pleased With Team's Showing In Canton Events

ALLEN, ROESSLER MUCH IN DEMAND

Squad of 38 Entered In This Week's Meet But Half May Not Go

Salem High, defeated in the track meet at Canton last Saturday, will participate in the Carnegie Tech intercollegiate meet at Tech field in Pittsburgh, Saturday.

Thirty-eight members of the squad have been entered in the meet by Coach Wilbur Springer, but probably not more than half of those entered will participate.

It may be, however, due to the fine showing of the underclassmen at Canton last Saturday, that all who made a good showing there will go to Pittsburgh.

The entire squad will go to Alliance tonight to workout in a practice meet against the Mount from Mount field, and Coaches Springer and Wiffler expect to make their pick on the basis of the aspirants showing there.

It is doubted whether the team will make the trip with its full strength, due to the seriousness of Harold Walker, star 880 runner. Seeds cut a bad gash into his wrist Friday when he stuck his hand through the window of his car and Walker accidentally shot himself through the leg Sunday.

Salem Third Last Year

Coach Springer has also not decided whether to send Roessler and Allen, pole vaulting and high jumping team to the Tech meet or to one of the bigger meets elsewhere.

The Tech meet is, without a doubt the largest in this district, attracting athletes from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. In last year's meet 73 high schools participated.

Salem placed third in last year's meet with 15½ points, finishing behind Columbus Central, the winner, and Washington, Pa.

Coach Springer, on his return from Wisconsin, was very well satisfied with the showing of the rest of the squad at Canton. The team, crippled, without Allen and Roessler who were at Wisconsin; Seeds, who was injured, and Siding, javelin-thrower and shot-putter, showed up very well, collecting 40 points against Canton McKinley and Akron Central.

Litty and Gregg, winners of three of Salem's four first places, were the "surprises" of the meet, and made the outlook for the season much brighter than previously was the case. With the full squad, Springer is certain that Salem could have walked away from the two other schools easily, as had been done annually for four years.

Springer is constantly receiving letters from schools holding meets all over the country, asking him to send his pole vaulting twins, Roessler and Allen to their meets. He may send them to one of the big eastern meets before the end of the season.

For the coming Saturday he is considering sending one of them to the relays at Milwaukee, Wis., held by University of Marquette and one to either Tech or some other meet. Marquette has offered to pay the expenses of both to its meet.

CHIEF ROEBUCK OUT IN FIRST

Chicago, May 1.—If "Big Chief" Teddy Roebuck, the 250-pound Haskell Indian, is ever coaxed back into the same ring with Otto Von Porat, the Norwegian heavyweight, the giant redman probably will insist on taking along his bow and arrow and at least one first class tomahawk.

It took the Norwegian knockout artist exactly two minutes and seven seconds of the first round last night to hammer down the huge bulk of Roebuck in what was to have been the 10-round banner event of Promoter Jim Mullen's Coliseum show. Ten thousand spectators who jammed the ancient structure to the rafters went wild at the gory exhibition.

Wellesley Slugs Way To Win Over Smith By 55 To 33

Captain Bertha Kent's "Wellesley" team, leaders of the girls' indoor baseball league of Salem High, kept its slate clean by winning its third consecutive victory Monday afternoon, trouncing "Smith" by a 55-33 score.

The game was featured by the terrific shugging of both teams, eight home-run features. Captain Kent slammed three, A. Hanna two, and Stratton, Ruck and Jones each one.

Two Games Tonight In Volleyball Loop

Two volley ball games will be played tonight and one Thursday in the city volley ball league. Joe Kelley, manager of the league has rearranged the schedule which now includes only six teams and has discarded the previous schedule.

The games tonight will start promptly at 7:30. Teams playing are Dodge Brothers vs. Methodists, Mullins vs. Masons.

Cleveland fans will again cheer a champion ball team, if the plans and hopes of these two ball pilots carry out. Above (left) Roger Peckinpugh, manager, and Joe Sewell, field captain of the Indians.

SHARKEY KNOCKS OUT DELANEY IN THE FIRST ROUND

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, May 1.—Tex Rickard found himself this morning with exactly one more peach in his garden of Madison Square than the sowing of seeds for the heavyweight harvest could account for.

In exactly one minute and 13 seconds of play Jack Sharkey knocked Jack Delaney right out last night while a crowded house went berserk.

Always a contrary cuss, he picked a most unfortunate moment for this exhibition of mastery.

For be it known by all these pres-

REDS ARE DOING WELL RIGHT NOW

Pirates Nose Out Cubs; Senators Sustain 7th Defeat Monday

New York, May 1.—May bids fair to be a merry one for the western teams in the National League. They will stop the business of battling each other to a standstill at the end of this week when the eastern clubs go west. Brooklyn and New York will find the going tougher and the chances are that at least two of the western outfits will forge to the front.

Considering the fact that Pete Donchue hasn't started yet and that Jackie May and Ethan Allen have just returned to duty, the weak-kneed Cincinnati Reds have been doing surprisingly well. They beat St. Louis yesterday, 6 to 4, and took third place away from the Red Birds.

Chick Hafey, St. Louis outfielder, crashed into a concrete wall while chasing a fly and suffered a slight concussion of the brain.

The Pirates made 16 hits and nosed out the Cubs, 8 to 7. Brooklyn's high flying Robins ran into a blizzard of New York hits and were slaughtered by a 14 to 4 score. The Giants can regain the league lead by trimming the Robins again today.

Rogers Hornsby's Boston team, which is on a terrific batting spree, made 19 hits, including four home runs, and walloped the Phillies by a 13 to 6 count.

The Yankees' 8 to 4 victory over the Senators marked New York's fourth straight win and Washington's seventh consecutive defeat.

The world's champions now lead Cleveland by more than 100 points. The St. Louis Browns handed Buckeye a terrible shellacking and swamped Cleveland 10 to 3.

Rube Walberg of the Athletics shaded Charlie Ruffing of the Red Sox in a 4 to 1 duel.

The toothless Tigers chased Red Faber to the showers, ruining the veteran's 1928 debut, but couldn't do any business with Al Thomas and lost to the White Sox, 10 to 6.

Tomato, in fact, didn't even have Delaney on the floor or near it, unless you count the soles of his feet. Sharkey not only had him there three times in the first minute but kept him there the last time down.

Just For The Tie's Sake

Had Sharkey been an obliging sort, he would have turned in the performance two months ago and then all of Professor Rickard's plans would have gone through strictly according to script. But he didn't, so the professor got very smart and named Heeney as the challenger before further exposes could alter the situation. Upon which, the professor found no further reason for being smart and went right ahead matching Sharkey and Delaney just for the sake of filling an open date and the till.

The result today was that, with Heeney and Tunney definitely matched for July 26 at the Yankee stadium, Sharkey was a far better card than the man who in advance had been declared in on the championship killing. He was a superior attraction for several reasons, the main one being that he scored three knockdowns in one minute last night which was exactly three more than had been tallied in 52 rounds of previous activity in the heavyweight racket.

"Bag-holder" Risiko There

Delaney took everything and gave nothing. He may have struck a blow during the minute and 13 seconds of action but I doubt if he did so in anger. The other guy, by comparison, was more like the Sharkey of the early rounds of the Dempsey fight. He went after Delaney from the bell, throwing right hands with abandon. The so-called rapier had just assumed an expression which meant to imply, "You can't scare me with those kinds" when one of them clipped him behind the ear.

Sharkey rushed to the attack again, swinging lefts and rights to Delaney's head without return. Steadying for a moment he set himself for a right cross. It nipped Delaney's jaw and would have been enough for a knockdown but the sailor added a left hook by way of emphasis. Delaney took a count of nine, and came up reeling.

He reeled into a right uppercut and it was all over.

Meantime, a young man by the name of Johnny Risiko was introduced from the ring last night. He was the man who beat Sharkey out of a decision only six weeks ago. So what does that make him? Really, Wilmerding, you ask the darndest questions.

At New York.—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, knocked out Jack Delaney, Bridgeport, Conn., one round.

At Newark, N. J.—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo, outpointed Tony Marullo, New Orleans, ten rounds.

Joe Sekyra, Dayton, O., scored technical knockout over King Solomon, Panama, eight rounds.

At Harrisburg, Pa.—Batling Levinsky of Philadelphia, former light heavyweight champion, outpointed Clem Johnson, Denver heavyweight, eight rounds.

At Philadelphia.—Jack Gross, Salem, N. J., scored technical knockout over Ralph Smith, California heavyweight, three rounds.

At Steubenville, O.—Willie Davies, Charleroi, Pa., stopped Young Irish, Akron flyweight, six rounds.

Jack McFarland, Pittsburgh, drew with Frankie Reo, Cleveland, eight rounds.

At Pittsfield, Mass.—Johnny Vaccaro, Boston, outpointed Al Beauregard, Waterbury, Conn., ten rounds.

At Atlantic City.—Pete Nebo, New York featherweight, knocked out Andy Tomosky, Atlantic City, three rounds.

At Holyoke, Mass.—Bobby Brown, Lowell, Mass., outpointed Joey Knapp, New York welterweight, ten rounds.

Capetown, South Africa.—Lady Bailey, England's premier aviatrix, arrived here Monday, completing a solo flight of 8,000 miles from London. The long trip began more than a month ago.

Jack Challenges Dempsey Today To Return Bout

New York, May 1.—Embedded by his master stroke in knocking Jack Delaney out of the heavyweight picture in exactly one minute and 13 seconds, Jack Sharkey today issued a challenge to Jack Dempsey for a return match and labeled the impending title match between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney as an exhibition between "two second raters."

He feels he has regained his old place and intends to keep on fighting until he gets his chance at the title.

Sharkey is sure that Dempsey is coming back for at least one more fight and he wants to get even with the man he calls the "old tiger" who classed him to pieces in seven rounds last June.

"LOVE"

Russia, the magnificent—gayest court in the world, with the most beautiful women, the most handsome officers—all the glory of the land of the czars before the revolution; this is the background for the poignant romance of Count Vronsky and Anna Karenina, as enacted on the screen by John Gilbert and Greta Garbo in "Love," now playing at the State.

It is a dazzling spectacle—gorgeous uniforms, glittering costumes, great palaces and the revelry of the Russian aristocracy at its height, as a glorious setting for the central love theme—the world-famous romance of Count Tolstoi, known to literature the world over as "Anna Karenina." In its film version it is a gorgeous piece of entertainment that has with utter fidelity kept the spirit of the novel. Gilbert as the dashing Count Vronsky, is a figure no less romantic than his role in "The Merry Widow." Miss Garbo as the tragic Anna, sacrificing all for love, and dogged by relentless fate, has a wonderful role. Her scenes with the child, for instance, fairly grip the heart, while her exotic personality tinges the entire spectacle.

George Fawcett, as the stern old Grand Duke, has a vigorous portrayal as forcible as his enaction of the pastor in "Flesh and the Devil," while Brandon Hurst is compellingly realistic as the sometimes sinister husband of the heroine.

"BEAU GESTE"

With the appearance of Paramount's "Beau Geste," which came to the Grand last night, it becomes necessary to enlarge the roll of screen masterpieces.

The magnificent broad sweep of this drama of the French Foreign Legion has never before been surpassed, nor has there ever been a theme more masterfully executed than that of the devotion of three young brothers, and their smiling, unflinching sacrifice for each other.

The pounding, pulsing drama of "Beau Geste" is brought to the audience with shocking force in the opening scenes. A detachment of the Foreign Legion is shown on its way across the African desert to relieve a fort which has been attacked by Arabs. Arriving, the commander of the relieving force finds no sign of Arabs, and his glass reveals a soldier standing at every embrasure in the walls, ready to fire on an enemy.

A bugle call elicits no response. Not a man stirs, and the gates remain closed. The major goes close to the walls and discovers the alert sentries to be—all dead!

This opens a mystery which deepens and quickens as the story progresses, reaching to England and there involving three of the main characters, the brothers, enacted by Ronald Colman, Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes.

Colman, giving the finest and most romantic performance of his brilliant career, and Noah Beery as Sergeant Lejaune, "the cruellest beast and bravest soldier" in the Legion, dominate the action although Hamilton and Forbes are close rivals for screen honors.

William Powell, Alice Joyce, Mary Brian, Norman Trevor, Victor McLaglan and the others all add to their popularity.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

Breakfast—Oranges, cereal cream, creamed dried beef, popovers, milk, coffee.

Dinner—Roast Spareribs, scalloped sauerkraut and mashed potatoes, head lettuce with chiffonade dressing, canned greenbeans, filled cookies, milk, coffee.

A nice way to serve the sparerib and kraut dinner is to pile the vegetable mixture in a mound in the center of a large platter and arrange the ribs in a border around the vegetable. If the platter is heat proof it should be slipped into a hot oven to cook for about ten minutes. The fat from the ribs will blend with the vegetable mixture and the kraut slightly flavor the meat.

FILLED COOKIES

One cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter and sugar and work in flour. A pastry mixer or the hand must be used for this work. Mix and sift baking powder with flour. Add eggs beaten until light. Add vanilla and stir to a smooth dough. Roll on a floured molding board making a thin sheet. Cut out in rounds and from half the rounds cut out centers. Put the rings on the whole rounds. The centers are baked and frosted and garnished with a nut meat or raisin. Fill the cookies with hollow rings with the following filling and bake 10 minutes in a moderate oven.

FILLING

One-half pound prunes, 4 tablespoons orange juice, 1-3 cup sugar, few grains salt, 2 tablespoons prune juice.

Wash prunes and simmer in one cup water until tender. Remove stones and chop flesh very fine. Add sugar, salt, orange juice and prune juice and cook until mixture is thick. Raisins, dates, or figs can be used in place of prunes and lemon juice substituted for orange juice.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, May 1.—New Necklaces and bracelets for sports wear consist of anklets made of narrow colored rings alternating with still finer ones of brass or nickel strung on an elastic tape. Pink, pale green, turquoise-blue and dull red are shown to match the spring costume.

Unique pendants, beads and ornaments of amber flecked with gold are being displayed in a little Rumanian shop in the fashionable rue St. Honore. The substance is a natural product of the country of Queen Marie and blends amber tones that range from palest yellow to dark golden brown, the colors joining each other in curious forms that suggest crystal line formation.

And speaking of jewels the idea of the ankle-bracelet has recently been taken up by the leading French hostess and transformed in an amusing way: one of the stockings is embroidered with a heavy relief line circling the ankle at the exact place where the real bracelet should be and imitating the design of the metal links.

A jeweler in the rue de la Paix is claiming to make the thinnest watch in the world. It can be enclosed in a $20 gold piece and leave room to spare.

The latest cry in camouflaged flasks for visitors from the land of Prohibition, come in the shape of what is apparently a gilt-edged leather-covered book with brass corners. One of these corners unscrews and discloses the neck of a flask. They come in all colors of leather as well as in snake and lizard skins.

British Lovers In Raffle For Mate, She Cared For Both

Birmingham, May 1.—Two young men, employed at the same works in Birmingham, have just engaged in a curious raffle for a wife. As a result, the winner is to lead his bride to the altar next week.

This extraordinary gamble for love came about because the girl could not make up her mind which of the two suitors she wished to marry.

"Both have been paying me attentions for ever a year," says the bride, and "I thought both of them very nice and liked them equally."

"I had proposals of marriage from both of them on the same day, but could not make up my mind."

In the presence of a large number of their workmates, the two suitors drew lots from a hat, in which one piece of paper had been marked with an X.

The lover who drew the X, the workmates raised a cheer, and the winner went off to claim his prize.

London—More than 100 persons were killed, more than 200,000 are homeless and thousands of houses are wrecked as a result of the recent earthquake period in Bulgaria according to the Daily Mail's correspondent.

Indigestion Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

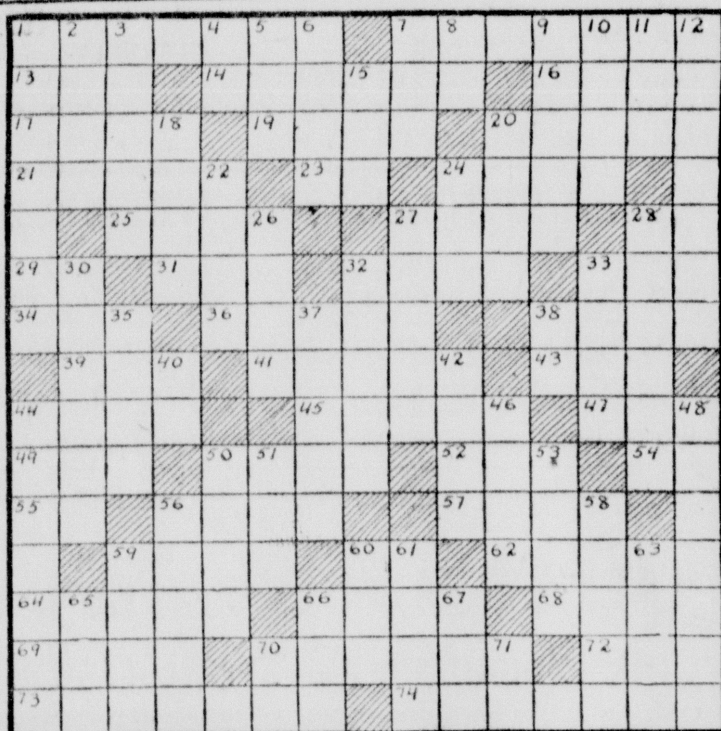

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875. Adv.

COAL INDUSTRY IN ENGLAND IN DIRE STRAITS

Now Two Years After the First General Strike;
Conditions Worse

London, May 1.—Today, two years after the first general strike in British history, which it directly precipitated, the British coal mining industry is in an even worse condition. This is the agreed verdict of mine owners and mine workers alike, a verdict which is endorsed by the reports of government and trade union commissions which have investigated the 15-year-old problem of how to revive this apparently dying British industry.

Unemployment is rife, wages have been reduced to the minimum, and altogether the position in the big mining areas is agreed on all sides to be little short of appalling.

Many Pits Closed
In many of the big mining fields, particularly South Wales, Durham, and Northumberland, numbers of pits have been closed for long periods, and there is no alternative employment; nor is there any hope that sufficient pits will reopen to give employment to anything like the number of men and boys now idle.

According to the latest available ministry of labor statistics, there are a quarter of a million miners idle, the large majority of whom are without prospect of any work in the near future. Many of them have been unemployed since before May, 1926, the date of the general strike. Sir Charles Batho, Lord Mayor of London, acting in co-operation with the Lord Mayors of Cardiff and Newcastle-on-Tyne, has realized the serious plight of the miners and their dependents by opening a fund for their relief. King George and Queen Mary head a notable list of subscribers with gifts of $2,500 and $1,250. Money subscribed to the fund will immediately be distributed throughout the badly affected areas in the hope that actual starvation will be stayed in the majority of instances.

While this and similar funds will temporarily relieve the situation, however, it is agreed that something much more effective must be done to rescue the industry from its present despairing plight.

Parliament has twice debated the question in recent months, but although members have painted pitiful word pictures of conditions existing in the mining towns and villages, no satisfactory scheme for rejuvenating the mines has been forthcoming.

An alarming feature of the situation is the way in which local municipal councils in the mining areas have been forced to bankruptcy by the heavy demands upon their treasuries by distressed miners and their families.

Food For Miners
Some councils have been practically supporting many miners for over twelve months, and a direct consequence is that rates have leaped sky-high, and monetary demands are being made upon local property owners which they cannot meet in view of the poor trading conditions.

Many of the municipal councils, and in particular the majority of those in South Wales, are hundreds of thousands of dollars in debt to banks and the ministry of health, and are paying as much as $5,000 and $10,000 a week in interest on these debts.

Indications are mounting that government shortly will be asked to step in and propound some scheme whereby the mine workers at least will be rescued from their present plight. How it will be done is the subject of a great deal of speculation, since many experts already have failed to discover how to make this one-time mammoth industry a paying proposition once more.

COFFEE IS OUT FOR ELECTION AT OHIO STATE

Columbus, May 1.—Three youths residing in Salem and in the immediate vicinity are in the race for the election to the Student Senate, the student governing body at Ohio State university.

The three youths, Charles Coffee of Salem; Clifford S. LeVake of Alliance, and William A. James of Cortland, Trumbull county, took out petitions for election to the student executive group last week at the university.

Coffee is running for the election of representative of the college of education; LeVake as a representative of the college of engineering; and James as a representative of the college of veterinary medicine.

Each of the 11 colleges on the Buckeye campus are permitted a representative on the senate.

A student election to name the respective senators for next year will be held on the campus this week. All of the candidates are under-graduates, Coffee being a sophomore and James and LeVake, juniors.

Dust Is Bringing Darkness To Paris

Paris, May 1.—Visibility in Paris, "The City of Light" is decreasing as such a rate that 1920 may find it in perpetual darkness according to Louis Beson, chief of the municipal weather bureau.

Beson reported to the Academy of Sciences the result of a 25 year study of atmospheric conditions over the city. He found that the density of dust and smoke particles in the air has increased 50 per cent since 1903, and warned that the growth of industrial enterprise in the metropolitan area might make Paris a close rival to London for pea-soup fogs, composed chiefly of particles of soot and dust.

GIBRALTER SWIMMER WELCOMED

Welcomed enthusiastically in Paris, Miss Mercedes Gleitze, London typist, shows paper proof to newspapermen of her aquatic conquest of the Straits of Gibraltar. The first woman claiming to swim the distance from the Rock to the African Coast gives 12 hours and 50 minutes as her time.

Darrow Wants To See His Home Town, Warren, Once Again

Columbus, O., May 1.—"I just want to see the old home town once more, to see the old courthouse, to talk to my friends and to tread those happy paths of my boyhood days."

Clarence Darrow, world-famed Chicago criminal lawyer, said today that these were his only reasons for returning to Warren to defend the case of James Mense, twice convicted of attempting to bribe the sheriff of Trumbull county at Darrow's old home town, Warren.

"It was just 50 years ago this year that I was old enough to be admitted to the bar, and Warren is where I started," Darrow said. "I was born in Trumbull county and there are a lot of old friends I've been longing to see for years and years."

"I did swear that I wouldn't defend another case—but this is different. I haven't practiced law for some time and I may have forgotten a lot, but I'm going back home and do my best."

"I remember just as plain as though it was yesterday when I got my first case in Warren. I was young and full of pep, ready to lock horns with anyone."

Darrow said that he knew few of the details of the case against Mense, known in Warren as "the king of boot-leggers." "If it wasn't for the chance to go home, I wouldn't have taken it," he said.

Darrow, little showing his 71 years, looked out of place in his homelike Venetian suite in a local hotel, where he was stopping to debate with Rabbi Jacob Tarshish, of Temple Israel, on the question, "Is Man a Machine?"

The noted lawyer was just returning from breakfast—at 11:30—when a bell boy dashed in with a shabby brown hat. "Darn it, I'm always forgetting something," Darrow exclaimed.

The trial is to begin May 7.

Kentucky Mortgage Law Held Invalid

Washington, May 1.—The supreme court today held invalid the Kentucky law providing a tax of 20 cents on each $100 of mortgages filed for record, in reversing the Kentucky court of appeals. The case was brought to the supreme court by the Louisville Gas and Electric company, seeking to escape a tax of $37,610.

The court held that the law violated the equal protection clause of the constitution because of discrimination in exempting mortgages of less than five years maturity from the tax.

Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone dissented.

The Crack of the Bat

ON baseball diamonds throughout the nation the crack of the bat is heard each afternoon, and after each crack the batter is seen scurrying toward first base. He can never come home with a run unless first base is attained.

In the game of prosperity, as in the game of baseball, one will never score success without money in the bank, and he will never get to first base without a savings account.
